

Course Code & Title	LISS235 Health Ethnography Reading Group
Convenor(s)	Jamie Murdoch, School of Population Health and Environmental Sciences jamie.murdoch@kcl.ac.uk Emma Goettke, School of Population Health and Environmental Sciences emma.1.goettke@kcl.ac.uk
Institution	King's College London	Department	Primary Care & Public Health Sciences
Academic Year	2021-22	Term	Autumn, Winter, Spring
Number of Sessions	5	Length of Session(s)	1 hour
	Day, Date	Start : End	Room Location
	Thursday 28 th October 2021 Thursday 9 th December 2021 Thursday 3 rd February 2022 Thursday 7 th April 2022 Thursday 2 nd June 2022	16:00-17:00	You may join meetings online over MS Teams or in person on the 7 th floor, Addison House, KCL Guy's Campus, Great Maze Pond, London SE1 1UL Please email emma.1.goettke@kcl.ac.uk to be sent a meeting invite. Register on Skillsforge (below) if you want this Reading Group on your training record.
Enrolment Links:	Available to book on Skillsforge from 24th September. (Click to log in and register) Please email emma.1.goettke@kcl.ac.uk to be sent a meeting invite. Questions? Visit our Training FAQ here: https://liss-dtp.ac.uk/our-training-programme/

Course Description:

Ethnographic research is increasingly conducted to understand complex health problems and interventions, and this application raises new questions about what ethnography is, how it is conducted, how to address ethical questions that arise and what kinds of data are produced.

This reading group focuses on the critical reading of ethnographic research. Participants discuss methodological, epistemological and practical concerns related to doing ethnography in health and health services research.

An ethnographic research paper, book, or other material(s) will be circulated prior to each session, and as well as being attached to the meeting invite.

The reading group is open to anyone researching or interested in social studies of health, medicine and healthcare.

London Interdisciplinary Social Science Doctoral Training Partnership
Advanced Research Methods in Social Sciences

All meetings will be held in-person and online via Microsoft Teams. If you prefer to attend in-person, the reading group will be at the KCL Guy's campus in Addison House on the 7th floor. A Microsoft Teams link will be circulated along with the invite.

Reading List:

The reading list is available via Dropbox here: <http://bit.ly/LISS235-readinglist>.

Eligibility:

The reading group is open to anyone researching or interested in social studies of health, medicine and healthcare.

Pre course preparation:

The reading for that month's session.

Number of students:

~20