Course Description

Themes: sharing challenges, productivity, writing discipline, rediscovering the joy

This is an extended retreat, in which the first two days kick off a month-long, self-directed writing development programme. Researchers set specific goals for their writing (both productivity and skills) which are reviewed on Day 3, one month later. Day 3 is also a chance to reinforce techniques, bolster confidence, and bring the researchers back together in a mutually supportive space.

All sessions run by Anne Wilson and Katie Grant are highly interactive. Numbers are limited, with every participant expected to do all required preparation, log-on on time, and contribute actively to the whole session. Writing Retreats require commitment to all the retreat days (2 days for Y1 and Y2; 3 days for Y3), and Writing Group requires commitment for six consecutive weeks. If you sign up and then have to cancel, you must let LISS know immediately. If you don't, you'll be depriving another researcher of the training opportunity.
